

LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION FOR JEFF KLEIN

To Whom It May Concern:

Jeff Klein has impressed all of us at Computer Sciences Corporation (CSC) with his high degree of professionalism, work ethic, attention to detail, and rapid grasp of arcane technical information. When he arrived at this office, he was totally unfamiliar with the details of the F-14 aircraft. Within a few months, however, he was able to identify discrepancies in technical documentation that required a high degree of understanding about the subject. Significantly, he attained this understanding on his own without intruding upon the time of his co-workers. He has a knack for interviewing subject matter experts with minimum interference, concisely asking the right questions based on preliminary study of available background material.

From the day he was hired, Jeff jumped in to do whatever it took to get the work done. His innovative thinking resulted in resourceful solutions to scheduling and tasking problems, and his outstanding writing ability resulted in documentation that was praised by the customer for its clarity. His upbeat sense of humor was a morale booster for the staff. His willingness to work evenings and weekends was greatly appreciated.

Mr. Klein has been a significant member of the documentation team at CSC, impressing everyone with his capability. Please feel free to contact me, and I'll be happy to discuss his outstanding abilities further.

Sincerely,

John Wroblewski
Senior Principal Engineer
CSC Camarillo